Talkin' Bout My Generation

Generations in the workplace should be your greatest strength...not your biggest headache!
We need each other, but sometimes we seem to forget that.

There are FOUR generations in the workplace today:

EVENTS SHAPE VALUES

Sound Familiar?

It's time to get past these tired and non productive stereotypes!

- “Millennials are so entitled. They want a trophy for showing up to work on time!”
- “Why can't you boomers just retire already? Stop coming in on Saturdays and working. You are making the rest of us look bad.”
- “Hey old timer, there's not a spot at the table for you in this conversation.”
- “Why are all these 40 somethings so jaded and cynical. Geez!”

The KEY to the conversation

While it may be entertaining to you to complain about other generations, it's not productive. The key to this conversation is the recognition that EVERY generation has some to say and something to offer, we just have to be willing to LISTEN!
